HAMMOND, IND., Nov. 24 .-

There may be some policemen in the United States who cover their beats by leaning over a cigar counter or chatting with the proverbial nursemaid, but Officer Fred Fondrie is not one of them. Fondrie came panting down Sheffield avenue last night when Capt. William Bukvich stopped him and demanded an explanation for all the speed.

"Listen", said Fondrie as he struggled to get his breath, "you would run too. You have to do it to pull the boxes in time. Pat Keliy is attending a wedding to-night, so I have his beat to cover. Clarence Hudson is off too, and I'm covering his also, that makes 32 square miles,-And a box in each beat to pull every hour."

Incidentally he that Wolf Lake, 4 miles wide, lay between two of his beats and that to gain time he had conceived the idea of rowing across it, instead of walking around.

Capt. Bukvich felt something ought to be done about it so he let him finish the night in his

who buys clocks -and why

Edgar Allen Poe once wrote a whimical little piece about the mythical ity of Vondervattimeitis in which everybody had a watch and a clock and compared it with the Town Clock. It was humorous because nobody in that mythical city had any need for accurate time.

But, the same story would not be quite so humorous today. Modern life demands accurate time. Successful men and women everywhere are surrounding themselves with accurate timepieces. They are jealous of their time. In the homes, in the clubs, in the offices of successful people are accurate clocks, many of them electric clocksmany of them Hamilton-Sangamo

This is published in the interests of those who can and will be benefited by those who can afford to buy.

If you have any item about the home that needs replacement, do it today. It may be the means of someone less fortunate going back to work.

BUYERS, today is yours! Yours, too, is that greater Today, embracing the Past and the Future. You have taken a chaotic and hostile environment, and beaten it, subdued it, moulded it into a super-structure of civilization. Your clean strength has made toil a thing of beauty. By your courage you have taught men to live without fear, as by your aspirations you have taught them to live with hope.

BUYERS, you are the soul of the factories and fields and mines and ships and railroads. You are masters of the Machine. You can say whether or not the wheels will turn. You can determine the theme of Progress.

BUYERS, your power is infinite. You form the links between nation and nation, people and people, creed and creed. You are millions and you are one. While your hands are feeding, clothing and sheltering the world, your eyes are fixed upon an ideal. You alone will lead the way to universal brotherhood---by buying now!
